

RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

The Imaginative Potential of our Public Conservation Lands

What relationships between nature and people should we foster in Aotearoa New Zealand?

OUR AIMS

- Bring together leading thinkers and researchers on this theme
- Identify a range of potential futures for our public conservation lands
- Foster a research network on 'The Imaginative Potential of our Public Conservation Lands'
- Celebrate the launch of the book 'Wild Heart: the Possibility of Wilderness in Aotearoa New Zealand'

A call for presentations and working papers will follow soon
For expressions of interest and more details contact Mick Abbott or Mike Boyes mick.abbott@otago.ac.nz
mike.boyes@otago.ac.nz

NOVEMBER 8-9, 2011

Venue: University of Otago, Dunedin

Supported by the Centre for Research on National Identity

